

RAW/Identity uses raw uncertainty in both roles; simple scalar methods enter calibration replay unless registered otherwise.

Calibration and acquisition mappings are separable.

Matched-beta controls alter exploration pressure without asserting improved probabilistic calibration.

Acquisition-only and joint variants can share an L4 trajectory while retaining distinct L1 evaluations.